

NADA University equips dealers and their staffs to get results—with the right knowledge, coaching, and resources to develop skills and confidence. Four robust “centers of excellence”—Academy, Learning Hub, 20 Group, and Resource Toolbox—make NADA U every dealership’s source for profit-building tools and training.

Complying with the FMLA is an online course that provides up-to-date compliance information on the FMLA. It covers regular FMLA leave and military family leave, including the qualifying reasons for regular FMLA leave and qualifying exigencies for military family leave, qualifications for military caregiver leave, and requirements for health benefits maintenance, job restoration, notices, and recordkeeping. In addition, an archived webinar, “The New FMLA,” walks you through the current law, and provides a checklist for better compliance. Sign in to NADA U, select “Learning Hub,” then “Legal/Regulatory” to find both the course and the webinar. And make sure to browse other courses, workshops and archived webinars for more information you can use. Click to purchase in the NADA U Store.

A Dealer Guide to the Family and Medical Leave Act is a Driven management guide that provides FMLA compliance information. It includes the required Department of Labor notices of employee rights and responsibilities, eligibility, and designation. Using the guide, you should be able not only to determine your compliance obligations, but also to create or revise employee handbooks and policies to reflect current FMLA requirements. Sign in to NADA U; select “Resource Toolbox,” then “Driven,” and then “Legal/Regulatory.” Driven guides are complimentary for NADA and ATD members; others may purchase guides in the NADA U Store for a nominal charge.
